

WILDLIFE RESPONSE

The Combat Center is abundant with wildlife, both harmless and dangerous. Birds, bees, coyotes, bats, and snakes are a few of many species you may encounter. The Provost Marshal wants all service members, civilians, contractors, family, and visitors safe while aboard the Combat Center and highly stresses the importance of following guidelines for wildlife safety and your well-being.

Do not attempt to catch, corner, trap, or kill any wildlife on base!

Call the right Department:

Animal management is a joint effort between Environmental Affairs (EA), Conservation Law Enforcement Officers (CLEO), Provost Marshal's Office (PMO), and Public Works Division (PWD).
